

Tunbridge Wells Cultural & Learning Hub

Stakeholder Update – 1st September 2016

Dead on arrival – David Clarke

Latest news:

We are pleased to announce that David Clarke and Tracey Rowledge will be joining us as artists in residence.

David is a silver-smith and Tracey a bookbinder, both work with their chosen medium in exciting and abstract ways and their work here with us will result in an exhibition in the art gallery in autumn 2017.

They are currently researching the history of Tunbridge Wells and exploring the museum and library collections and archives. Find out more here:

Detour – Tracey Rowledge

Heritage Questionnaire:

Focusing on the heritage aspect of the project, this questionnaire is now available on the C&LH web page as well as in printed version from the services involved.

This is a chance to feed into the project and by taking part you will be entered into a prize draw for £50 worth of M&S vouchers. Questionnaires must be completed and returned by 25 September in order to be entered into the prize draw.

Procurement:

Procurement of the Lead Architect is in the final stages, shortlisted tenders have begun visiting the site and having tours of buildings.

The team are currently scoring the Interpretation Designer submissions, with appointment expected in October.

Thank you for your continued support. If you have any questions about the project or this update please email:
